NESPIN is pleased to welcome the Connecticut Intelligence Center (CTIC) to the group of partner agency systems connected to RISSNET and sharing criminal intelligence via RISSIntel. CTIC/CrimeNtel Intelligence Database is now available for real-time, online federated searching through RISSIntel.

The RISS Program was awarded funding for the Northeast Fusion Center Intelligence Project from the Office of the Program Manager, Information Sharing Environment, in collaboration with the Bureau of Justice Assistance. The project aims to implement the ability of fusion centers in the northeast region to utilize their existing intelligence system by connecting to the RISS Criminal Intelligence Databases (RISSIntel). RISS is honored to be working with these fusion centers. To learn more about the Northeast Fusion Center Intelligence Project, visit http://www.riss.net/RISSInsider/2014.02/content.html

RISSIntel is accessible via RISSNET and currently provides for the real-time, online federated search of more than 35 state and regional connected systems simultaneously without requiring the user to log on to the individual systems. By leveraging RISSNET and RISSIntel, fusion centers can securely share intelligence data among themselves and other entities efficiently and effectively, analyze criminal and terrorism data across jurisdictional boundaries and agencies, and safeguard privacy, civil rights, and civil liberties.
